GUARANTEE FOR 1922 CHAUTAUQUA IS COMPLETED

More Than Enough Season Tickets Are Sold to Guarantee a Good Chautauqua Next Year—Contract To Be Signed at Once

There were but one hundred tickets to be sold Friday evening to make certain that there would be another chautauqua in Maysville and these were contracted for within a very few minutes.

The American Legion will immediately contract with the Shaw Bureau, which furnished this year's talent and it is to be hoped that this bureau will furnish as high class talent for next year as they have furnished this.

Friday evening's program was a good one. The Venetian Troubadours entertained the large audience well. While, in our opinion, they did not rank with the other musical numbers on this year's program, they pleased many. Hon. Will D. Upshaw, of Georgia, Member of Congress, spoke very interestingly on the subject: "The Americanism that will save America." He said the war has brought to us a new patriotism and a new national solidarity. Mr. Upshaw, as a member of Congress, is endeavoring to help in bringing about his new Americanism by means of legislation and has four bills now pending before the House. One bill provides that it shall be unlawful to place a foreign prefix before the name of any association, organization or firm in America. The second bill provides that no student shall be awarded a diploma from any educational institution unless that student can first repeat the Constitution of the United States. The third measure would require all foreign language publications to carry in parallel columns a translation in English and the fourth measure prevents the appropriation of public money to any sectarian educational institution.

Mr. Upshaw's lecture was well received by the large audience. He is a man of strong personality, a great brain and a thorough going American who believes, as he says, in "America for America and them some."

Mrs. Amelia Bendale is at home after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Richard Williams, and family at Huntington, W. Va.

OLD RELIABLE FAIR OFFERS BEST LIST IN ITS LONG HISTORY

Mason-Bracken-Robertson County Fair Will This Year Be One of the Best in Kentucky — New and Novel Features.

Because of the playing our Boys' Band at some of the bigger fairs throughout Kentucky and Ohio this season, our attention has been much turned to those big events but we are not unmindful of our own fair at Germantown which this year offers the best premium list it has ever offered in its history and whose attractions are greater than they have ever had before.

By comparison, the Old Reliable Germantown Fair compares favorably with any county fair in the state of Kentucky and stands head and shoulders above the majority of the county fairs.

Besides the splendid show of cattle, horses, swine and fowls which always marks this fair, there are many added attractions and not the least of these attractions is our own Kentucky Cardinals Band.

The newest feature of the fair—one inaugurated this year—will be the night fairs on the 25th and 26th. Arrangements have been made to light the grounds with electricity and some of the best rings of the entire meeting will be shown at night.

The officers and directors of the fair company have spared nothing to make this season's fair the greatest yet. Remember the dates—August 24, 25, 26 and 27, and let nothing interfere with this big annual homecoming and festival of good things.

TOBACCO FAIR IS THE NEXT BIG EVENT.

With the chautauqua over, the next big event in Maysville will be the corn and Tobacco Fair which will be given this year under the auspices of the Mason County Farm Bureau with the co-operation of the American Legion.

Members of both organizations are beginning to lay plans and a general meeting for organization purposes will likely be called within a few weeks. It seems the general purpose of all to hold the fair this year during Thanksgiving week.

The hydroplane, "Louisville," which has been making flights here for the past several days, left Saturday morning for Portsmouth, Ohio, where it will carry passengers for the next several days. ## 240 CASES OF LIQUOR TAKEN IN TWO TRUCKS

Men Arrested In Taylorsville Raid Refuse To Give Their Names To Officers.

Taylorsville, Ky., August 13.—Two truckloads of whisky—a total of 240 cases—two automobiles and four men, all seized by Sheriff John B. Thomas on the pike between here and Louisville Wednesday night, are being detained here for investigation.

The whisky is from the Moore distillery at Tyrone, Anderson county. Three other men who were with the trucks and automobiles were released on bond of $1,000 each today.

Three thousand dollars in cash was put up by a man who introduced himself as "Mr. Cotton, of Louisville." He said the three men whose release he sought had nothing to do with the whisky.

The trucks and machines came into Taylorsville from the Bloomfield Pike. One truck was covered with tarpaulin and the other with curtains.

Sheriff Thomas overtook them on Withrow Hill, three miles from here. No resistance was offered by the men who were brought back to town and placed under guard in a hotel. The whisky, trucks and machines also were placed under guard.

The four men who are still detained refused to give their names or to discuss their business.

PERPETUALLY BURNING CANDLE; MEMORIAL FROM ORPHANS.

New York, Aug. 13.—An eighteen foot candle that can be burned on every All Soul's Day for 5,000 years is being made here as a memorial to Enrico Caruso from the inmates of an orphan home to which the Metropolitan opera star contributed $10,000 a year for many years. It will be placed in the Church of the Madonna of Pompeii at Naples, Italy. The candle will be completed in ten weeks, and will weigh about 1,000 pounds. It is figured that the candle would burn continuously for thirteen years and seven months.

DEMONSTRATION OF POULTRY CULLING AT BROOKS FARM

State Poultry Expert To Demonstrate Culling Next Friday at Gus Brooks' Farm at Maysville.

Plans have been completed by County Agent Kirk for a poultry culling demonstration which will be held August 19 for Mason county farmers and their wives in order to show them how to distinguish between the looser and the heavy-laying hen.

Mr. A. S. Chapin, poultry extension specialist from the College of Agriculture, will assist County Agent Kirk in conducting the demonstration.

The following schedule of demonstrations has been arranged in order to make it possible for farmers in the entire county to attend the demonstrations:

Friday morning, 9:30 o'clock G. A. Brooks farm, at Maysville.

It is unfortunate that Mr. Chapin could not be in Mason county at an other time than while the Ewing Fair is in progress, which will enable him to make but one demonstration, as he is to judge the poultry at Ewing

Farmers and their wives who live in the vicinity near Mr. Brooks will meet there at which time County Agent Kirk assisted by Mr. Chapin will select representative hens from the flock on the farm and show the poultry the difference between the hen that is laying and the one that has stopped laying to loaf until spring.

The various points of difference will be outlined in detail and circulars on culling distributed in order to make it possible for the farmers and their wives to become familiar with the process.

The demonstration will be complete and simple enough so that every one who sees it can put the culling method into practice on his own farm

STIBBLIN YOUTH IS PLACED IN JAIL

Lad Released Under Mother's Care Until Grand Jury Meets, Again Breaks Law.

Robert Stiblin, the youth, who with his father was charged with cutting and wounding another and who was released by Juvenile Judge Purnell under his mother's care until the meeting of the next session of the grand jury in September, was re-arrested Friday night and placed in jail.

The officers charge that the Stiblin boy has been again molesting the little Toile boy who he cut several weeks ago.

The lad is charged with threatening the Toile boy in shape Friday.

The exemption applying to individual incomes was increased from $2,000 to $2,500 for those whose net income is not more than $5,000. The action was taken on the motion of Representative Nicholas Longworth, Ohio.

No change was made in the present $1,000 exemption applying to single persons.

THE LURE OF EASY MONEY.

Every one will remember Ponzi, still in prison for the crime of defrauding thousands out of their cash, and who found that the country swarms with both men and women who follow recklessly the lure of easy money. He offered those who invested with him fabulous profits. Some of the wiser victims who fell into his trap doubtless knew that the scheme would not work but for a time, and hoped to get in and out with their tainted gains before the crash came. But multitudes had no more brains than to believe that something can be made of nothing. The philosopher's stone seemed to them quite as real as it did to some of its devout seekers in the Middle Ages.

No matter how many "get rich quick schemes" may explode leaving ruin behind them, other throngs of feeble-minded folk run after every new adventurer who promises big profits and quick returns, and no questions asked. The speculative fever burns on just as briskly after every fresh example of knavery is thrown open to the public view.

The sons and daughters of Eve are always looking for the same short-cut to fortune which their first mother tried with such disastrous results.

Two more emulators of Ponzi have recently landed in prison. Thomas Farrow started a poor man's bank, promised bigger interest than any old, reliable financial institution had ever attempted to pay, received many millions on deposit, and suddenly went to the wall short more than $5,000,000.

A Chicago boy but seventeen years old, named Stephen Capsack, organized a mail-order brokerage house and induced farmers all over the Middle West to send him stocks and bonds to sell at top prices on the basis of a very small commission. When the ambitious lad had bled his customers to the extent of half a million dollars, the government stepped in and stopped the game.

So it goes on and on. Men snap at the same old worm-eaten bait, and seem incapable of learning that fire burns and pitch blackens. Easy money pulls them as a magnet gathers up steel filings.

After all, the pursuit of easy money is followed even when successful, by the breakdown of moral character and slips away in the end as easily as it came. The easiest money in the world is that which is earned by honest labor in the effort to produce something aid in increase thereby the store of the world's real wealth.

A POOR POLICY.

It is the height of bad judgment to rush to the city in search of work with the first cry of hard times. Yet there is a tendency on the part of rural residents and dwellers in small towns to do this very thing as soon as employment begins to show signs of tightening up, as soon as the man has to go out and hunt a job instead of the job hunting the man.

If you reside on the farm or in a small town try and remember that you stand a far better show of securing steady employment among friends than among strangers. And learn, too, if you do not already know, that there are always many in the city without work, even when prosperity is general. The cities have their own to care for, regardless of labor conditions, and if you should find yourself jobless in a city you will quickly discover that its residents will not show the sympathy you are sure of in the smaller town. It's pretty much of a case of every tub standing on its own bottom in the city—and if ill luck should overtake you helping hands are not going to be held out as readily as they will where actual suffering is almost, if not wholly, a stranger.

Where is it possible for one to raise a few vegetables, keep a cow and chickens and procure fuel at the lowest figure known the chill of winter isn't going to sting like it does in the city where the necessities of life are only secured after they have passed through many hands, and each hand is accustomed to collecting its tribute.

With labor conditions as serious in this country as they are today, think twice, yes, a dozen times, before you leave the farm to seek employment in the city.

Try and remember, too, that so long as you are on the farm you may be sure of one very important thing—the dinner bell is always going to ring at noon.—Dayton News.

GUARANTY OF OPPORTUNITY ONLY.

"Just as the Pilgrims had a practical mind for material things amid effective pursuits of their higher ideals, so must we with our inheritance. God never intended an achievement without great effort; there is no reward without great labor; freedom in the field of endeavor, not the fancied abode of idleness. Just as these fathers drew together toward ample community authority to make the nation and still preserve the freedom of those who compose it, so must we guard against the supreme centralization of power at home, and the superstate for the world. More, we must combat the menace in the growing assumption that the state must support the people, for just government is merely the guaranty to the people of the right and opportunity of that people to support themselves. The one outstanding danger of today is the tendency to turn to Washington for the things which are the tasks or the duties of the 48 Commonwealths which constitute the nation."—President Harding at Plymouth.

Don't Delay

IMMIGRANTS KEEPS ON JUMP TO EVADE LAW.

New York.—When we were kids we used to play a game called "Ten Steps" in which whoever was "it" stood with closed eyes and counted rapidly to ten, the others rushing from a starting point in an effort to be first to the counter. Anyone caught moving after "ten" had been counted had to go back and start over.

It is much the same game which would-be immigrants to the United States play these days. The rules are the new "1-5 of 3 per cent." law, which sounds like beer, but which is really an attempt to check immigration. Olga and Carlo and Boris start from the other side and rush for the land of the free, trying to reach Ellis Island before the quota man says "ten." If he catches them on the move they have to go back and try all over again the first of next month.

The new law, which has been effective for about two months, has certainly jazzyed up the business of immigration. It provided that the number of immigrants from any one country be limited to 3 per cent. of that nation's 1910 population. And it has a joker which says that only 1-5 of that 3 per cent. shall come in any one month.

Now, with a country like Germany, which had about a million population in 1910 and has sent less than 500 here since the law became effective last June, the new restrictions don't matter very much. But when it comes to Greece, Poland, Turkey and some of the smaller nations, they are eating up their quotas in record time and hollering for more. The United States is still to the land of freedom, and the report that their coming here is about to be curtailed has raised an awful furor among intending immigrants.

If the law were stipulated that when a nation had sent us 3 per cent. of its 1910 population no more would be admitted there would do no difficulty; the overflow could simply be shipped back home, with Uncle Sam's regrets. But this 1-5 of 3 per cent. each month business has them all guessing—or did at first.

It didn't take the wily foreigner long to catch onto the joker and turn the trick against us. Eight little nations used up their quotas during July, which was the first month. When it came around toward the last of the month, did the liners bringing immigrants to this country put in, learn they were too late because the month's quota was full, and put back? They did not.

Much to the disgust, even the fury of

Mrs. WILLIAM TESTIFIES

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such awful pains in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I thought I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework. I would have headaches every two weeks and they would bring down pains. I had been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city, but I kept getting worse and only weighed 125 pounds. I saw your advertisement and I took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets, four bottles Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and your Liver Pills and noticed an improvement right away. Now I weigh 158 pounds and feel fine. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject.' I will always have a good word for your medicine and you may use my name whenever you wish."

Mrs. JOSEPH WILLIAM, 722 South 9th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

some hundreds of American citizens who happened to be passengers, eight big transatlantic liners due late in July calmly delayed their arrival in New York until the first of the month. One, the Megali Hellas, a Greek liner, with 130 Americans aboard, arrived off Fire Island July 29 and, despite the rage and hair tearing of the United States citizens, dropped anchor and stayed there, just outside the three-mile limit, until August dawned.

Several other liners, one big one from Italy among them, followed suit. On the stroke of midnight, when July became August, there was a grand rush across the line. With a tooting of whistles the immigrant-bearing cavalcade swept down upon Ellis Island. Their passengers would have been in excess of the first month's quota, but this was August now, and that was another matter.

It is reasonable to suppose, immigration officials say, that this performance will be repeated around September 1 and again the first of each month until late midnight, November 30, the last grand rush begins.

To cope with the situation it has been decided by local officials that all surplus immigrants shall be admitted upon personal bonds, if they can find them, until October 1. It is hoped that a federal law, somewhat less exciting will be enacted before that time. It is believed that the framers of the present measure, which is temporary failed to foresee the jazzy effects of their legislation.

So the immigrants who wait outside the line until the new month begins are really wasting their time, because they could get in anyway. But they don't now—it so the game is just as exciting as though it were real.

BERLIN AGREES TO PAY HALF OF DEBT IN GOODS.

Berlin.—Minister of Reconstruction Rathenau has given a long detailed report on the German-French reparation negotiations to the reparation committee of the economic council, in which he expresses satisfaction over the practical results already achieved.

On the supposition that Germany will never be able to pay the reparation in cash, Minister Rathenau has been organizing Germany's productive power into numerous organizations representing the different branches of industry which will execute the orders France gives, orders which when filled, take the place of cash. Rathenau believes this is the only way Germany can fulfill the ultimatum.

The orders consist chiefly of machinery, tools, general industrial supplies, will, building materials, doors, window frames, etc.

The idea is to withdraw the German workingmen from the devastated regions of France. All reparation and restitution orders will be executed in Germany.

The production thus planned, Minister Rathenau believes, will prevent an increase of the number of unemployed in all countries. For if Germany were compelled to pay all in cash she would have to flood the markets of the world to increase her exports, which would be the only means by which she could pay cash.

The latest figures of Germany's unemployed show a remarkable decrease in the number of persons out of work. The figures for May were 400,000, while the total of the unemployed on July 1 was only 300,000. Since May 1,

New York Letter by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York.—Italy is going to add something of her own particular culture to 33 young American of Italian descent who have already made their mark in the educational centers of this country. The group sailed from New York the other day on an Italian steamship, guests of the Italian government. They were selected because of the high standing they have achieved in high schools, colleges and universities of this country, and while they are in Italy they will visit museums, art galleries, churches and palaces, and have an opportunity to study and appreciate the art of their own land. They can all read and write Italian fluently. They are bearing with them a bronze wreath to be placed on the tomb of Dante in honor of the anniversary celebration. In spite of their keen interest in seeing the land of their fathers, they didn't want any misunderstanding about their own nationality. "Maybe you won't come back!" said one reporter, as they were going aboard. An almost scared look came over several faces at such a possibility. "Oh! Yes! We are Americans. We return to our country," they insisted.

—NY—

There are 100,000 persons from the South, the West, and from Europe spending their summer vacations in New York City, according to estimates made by the leading hotels here. There seems an almost complete reversal of the before-the-war situation when Europe was the playground for Americans. The "See America" campaign evidently has reached Europeans as well as those of our own continent.

Another "Follies" is scheduled for New York production in October. Classed as an amateur performance it is never-the-less ready to challenge comparison with all the other "Follies." "Frolics," "Frivolities" and whatever other names there be. This is the "Vassar Follies," to be put on by the New York City girls of the class of '15, under the chairmanship of Miss Elizabeth Johnson, with cast and chorus assistance from the most talented singers and dancers of other years. The "Follies" will be sent in manuscript form to Vassar clubs throughout the country to be given for the sake of bringing in more dollars to the endowment fund. A complete dramatic department is organized at the endowment committee headquarters, under the direction of Miss Sybil Fletcher, and in addition to the "Follies," several dramas, comedies and tragedies, written by Vassar graduates will be sent out with complete directions for production, costume-making and scenery. Miss Fletcher has herself made models for the greater part of the scenery which are at the command of the alumnae.

After having supplied more than 5,000 peg legs, largely of her own design to wounded soldiers during the war, Lady Marjorie Dalrymple, sister of the Earl of Stair, has come to New York to go into the business of manufacturing suede articles. It was finding how nice and soft it was for the tops of the legs, that decided Lady Marjorie upon that particular medium

The printed word is often confusing. On the cover of the August American Magazine in large, convincing letters, are the words, "Young Vanderbilt Tells Why He Works." And the story shows that its Cornelius, Jr., they're talking about. Then the society columns inform us that Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., are at their summer cottage in British Columbia, where they will stay until October 15.

James Moore Hobo, A-1-1, is with us in the city for a few days. James is a pink-cheeked, yellow-haired young fellow, who has covered every state in the United States, visited every state capital, and nearly every national park, and carved his signature, "J. M. Hobo A-1-1," on every registered water tank of hobos since he left Chicago, August 4 of last year. It has been pretty steady travelling, but James is nothing if not thorough. He has been in fourteen countries of Europe, too, and his initials adorn the top of the Eiffel Tower. There is distinction in hobodom as well as in any other fields of life.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

The Story of American Ships.

Uncle Ted had been busy on the back porch all morning, whistling on a deer chante, whittling and tinkering for dear life, and Ruth and Jack rounded the corner of the house to discover the product of his labors taking form. It was a beautiful model of a three-masted schooner. With the stepping of the masts, the fastening of the rigging and the bending of the sails the model was completed, and both children ejaculated: "Oh, Uncle Ted, what a pretty little boat! What are you going to do with it?"

"We will take it over to the duck pond and see if it will sail," replied Uncle Ted, "and after we have tried it out I will tell you a story about the American shipping industry." An hour later, Uncle Ted having proved his ability as a shipwright, the three mariners gathered under a shady elm, and Uncle Ted began:

"Before the Civil War the flag of the United States adorned every port in the world. We had the makings of a splendid maritime race in the English of New England, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and the Carolinas, the Dutch of New York, the Swedes of Delaware, and their descendants who had migrated to the Pacific Coast—the world's best seafaring stock. Shipbuilding is the most ancient of American industries, as old as Jamestown, and older than Plymouth. The first vessel was launched at the mouth of the Kennebec in 1607, the first decker was built on the Hudson by Adrian Block in 1614. The father of American maritime policy was Governor John Winthrop of Massachusetts. The growth of our shipbuilding industry was so rapid that it soon excited the jealousy of the mother country, England, which began to pass laws to gan to develop a carrying trade elsewhere, and during the decade 1820-30 we were carrying 90 per cent. of our foreign trade. In 1828 the Reciprocity Act was passed which proved another blow to our shipping. Great Britain availed herself of that act but nothing of consequence in return, while Spain exacted large charges on our tonnage in Cuban and Porto Rican ports.

"In 1831 the steamship became a factor, and until the mercantile panic of 1837 there was a steady growth in American shipping. Along about 1840 Great Britain began her policy of giving subsidies, that is, the payment of a bonus to packets for carrying mails. The Cunard line received over a million dollars annually for about 20 years. This line laid hold of the choicest passenger and freight trade. About this time William Wheelwright, a native of Massachusetts conceived the idea of a line down the west coast of South America, but on seeking capital to promote it in this country he was told that a subsidy would be necessary. Congress refused to give him this, so he went to Liverpool and received a generous one and started the Pacific Steam Navigation Company. Had we encouraged Wheelwright, the United States, instead of Great Britain, would be dominant along the west coast of South America today.

"In 1845 Congress adopted the mail subsidy policy, and our steamship carrying trade grew from 5,000 to 115,000 tons. This period also saw the development of the celebrated Yankee clipper, engaged in the long voyage trade to China and India. But in 1858, the North and the South being hopelessly estranged, all aid to American shipping was withdrawn. Jeff Davis was then in the Senate from Mississippi, and he said he saw 'no reason why, if we can get our mails carried in British vessels across the Atlantic we should establish a line of American vessels merely that we may compete with them in a race across the Atlantic.' After 1860 our carrying trade steadily declined, until before the World War we were carrying but 9 per cent. of our foreign trade, and then came the great re-birth of the American merchant marine."

"And are we all right now, Uncle Ted?" asked Jack.

"Well, hardly," was the reply. "You see Great Britain is determined as ever to control the seas, and she is missing no opportunity to embarrass us. We can not compete with her in the granting of subsidies, for the British board of control can go us one better every time, while there is not enough popular feeling for an American marine yet developed. British cotton manufacturers have recently refused to take cotton from this country carried in American ships, and British influences have prevented us from securing freights from foreign ports. And Great Britain is anxious to corner the oil supply of the world so that she can embarrass our oil-burning boats. Perhaps the best we can do now is to hard back to the policy of 1794 and impose discriminatory rates on goods brought to this country in foreign ships. With that purpose in view Senator Jones, of Washington, has introduced an amendment to the Fordney tariff bill which should have the support of the country, and which will cause no drain on the Treasury, but will, on the contrary help it. Then we may hope once more to see the American flag in every port."

GERMANY NO LONGER FEARS RACE SUICIDE.

Berlin.—The flapping of the wings of Dr. Stork, heard so little during the war, is again a familiar sound in Germany. The pessimists have ceased worrying about "race suicide" and a receding birth rate, and instead are now gloomy about how to dispose of Germany's surplus population, with no colonies.

The birth curve fell so low during the war that it went off the chart. Statisticians in the Neue Berliner estimate that nearly five million children would have been born in Germany under normal conditions between the years 1914 and 1919.

Last year the birth rate passed the death rate for the first time since 1914 and fears of "race suicide" are past. The death rate, incidentally, has increased from 15.8 persons to 1,000 in 1913 to 16.3 last year.

For the purpose of encouraging large families the Berlin municipal school are giving cut rates to children when there are several attending schools. Public schools in Germany are not free as in America; bachelors and spinsters refuse to pay taxes to educate the neighbor's children. Tuition must be paid for each child.

A graduated scale of tuition has been introduced varying according to the income of the father and the number of children in school. A parent earning 30,000 marks a year must pay 500 marks school tax for the first child 25 per cent. rebate for the second child and 50 per cent. rebate for the third. The fourth child is free.

The the father's income is less than 20,000 marks, the first child has a rebate of 50 per cent. and the second's education is free.

AUTO IS STOLEN FROM SIDE OF SLEEPING GUARD.

Louisville, Ky.—J. B. Buford, Negro, 25, lost his position as automobile watchman on the levee. Buford was engaged to guard two machines while their owners made merry on a steamboat excursion. Soother by the cooling breezes, the Negro reclined on the soft cushions of one of the automobiles and soon was in a deep slumber.

Hours later Buford awoke. He rubbed his eyes and looked for the other car. He hurried to central police headquarters and notified authorities of the disappearance of the machine. The missing car, it was found, belonged to August Schum.

Iconium; Lystra was 18 miles southwest of Iconium. It was the home of Timothy who later became a helper of Paul.

The apostles healed man whose feet were deficient from his birth. Timothy may have heard Paul preach at this time. But again opposition arose, notwithstanding the large number who believed. It was here the heathen people wanted to offer sacrifices to Paul and Barnabas, saying "The gods have come down to us." They called Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercury, two heathen gods. But the apostles forbade them, saying "We are men of like passions with you."

Then they preached to them of the true "God who made heavens and earth and the sea and all things that are therein." Jews from Antioch and Iconium came down to Lystra to persecute the apostle and led the people to stone Paul so that they left him for dead. Paul and Barnabas now departed to Derbe, preached the gospel there, and returned to Lystra, Iconium and Antioch in Pisidio, where they had preached before.

In these cities they had established churches and they returned to them to confirm and establish them. They ordained elders in all of them and "exhorted them to continue in the faith, and that they must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God." They prayed with these churches and fasted and "commended them to the Lord, on whom they believed."

Passing through Pisidia, they came to Pamphilia, and when they had preached the word in Perga they went down into Attala, and thence sailed to Antioch in Syria from where they had started. There they called the church together that had sent them out, and told to them the wonderful story of their experiences. "And how God had opened the door of faith to the Gentiles. And there they abode a long time."

Thus the gospel was planted in Asia minor through the courage and sacrifices of these godly men. It is a wonderful record. We are interested in it, because in this tour the gospel was moving toward Europe, the home of our ancestors. We will see later how Paul and Silas crossed over into Macedonia and planted the kingdom on European soil. We learn here something of what it cost to bring the gospel to us, and we must not hesitate to make similar sacrifices to carry it on to those who still are in heathen darkness. It is in this same territory that the Turks are now persecuting the Armenians and Greeks and others, seeking to destroy them utterly. This should stir us to great activity in relieving the distressing wants of these people.

In some place in heathen lands our missionaries today have experiences similar to those of Paul and Barnabas, but inspired by the same spirit they are pressing on to victory over the head of all opposition. We are operating on a larger scale now. Thousands of missionaries are penetrating the remote parts of the world, and are sowing the seeds of eternal truth that will finally displace false religions with the true and prepare the world for the second coming of Christ. Let each of us see that he is doing his full share in this glorious work.

SHOVEL PRESERVED 70 YEARS UNDER BRIDGE.

The Bracken County Review says:

A shovel was found in the abutment of the Milford bridge torn down a few days ago. This abutment was built about seventy years ago and the shovel had lain in the water all these years, and when taken out from under a heavy timber and washed off it appeared almost as good as new, but when the handle came in contact with the air it was not long until the wood could be picked to pieces with one's fingers.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Maysville resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mr. M. Holliday, 221 East Second street, Maysville, says: "I have been greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills and I have reason to recommend them. At times my back has become lame and ached just over my kidneys. My kidneys were irregular in action and I was dizzy. When ever I have used Doan's Kidney Pills I always get relief from these complaints. I certainly think these a good reliable remedy. I always get Doan's at Wood & Son's Drug Store."

The above statement was given November 16, 1916, and on November 22, 1920, Mrs. Holliday said: "I am glad to say my kidneys have given me no trouble since using Doan's Kidney Pill four years ago. My general health has been good. I gladly renew the statement I gave recommending Doan's at that time."
